

Raunak Vardhan Singh, MS (Statistics), Senior Researcher

Raunak is our survey “czar”, with over ten years of experience in analyzing and identifying actionable insights from primary and secondary data. Raunak has extensive experiences in leading research efforts, performing statistical analysis, and developing sampling frames for large scale studies in the fields of consumer goods and financial services. Raunak is also an expert in statistical modeling and in survey sampling methods. Raunak is responsible for assisting clients with study and sample design, data analysis, modeling, and report development. Raunak received his Masters of Science in Statistics from the Delhi University in India.